Just read Chrisbraeuer411's review.

It pushed me to try this game, and I don't regret.
Excellent roomscale VR shoot them up, with levelling, upgrades and bosses.

Quality fun game. And challenging.. So I took a chance on this game as I wasn't impressed with the game title or the description of the game, but it was on sale for $2.49 and I figured there wasn't much to lose. Holy crap, this game is hella fun. Like Xortex 2.0.

There's wave shooters out there where you physically dodge bullets, but in this game because of the scale, you use your hands and switching between hands to avoid danger. There's so many powerups along the way and so many different types of enemies. It's unbelievable the amount of content. I only got through wave 5 on easy on my first playthrough! I already got my money's worth and I'm looking forward to playing a lot more.

This is a must buy as there's very few games that'll entertain this much for this little cash.

Rating 9/10 (keeping sale price in mind versus fun had). This is a bullet hell game, and it's fantastic. Having only played 2D bullet hell games, there's always that smidge of accuracy that you need in the movement that is impossible to get with a controller or joystick, but physically moving your hand lets you be exactly where you need to. All the waves are similar, just scaling the amount/damage/health/spread of the enemies, with the same boss every 10 waves, but it hasn't gotten old for me because of the upgrades. The fun starts when there's enough enemies to get below above and behind you, which truly captures the essence of bullet hell. This game is good not because it does one thing exceedingly well, but because it includes everything well making a solid game.. I've been playing the game only a little so far. I've got to level 18, but it looks like there are more levels. The little animated characters look great in VR! I also love being able to choose what hat my cat wears, and then be able to shoot lasers with it. I was super impressed with the first boss!

Pros:

Fun
Well animated enemies
Great particles
Like Xortex, but with more levels, weapons, difficulty modes, ect.
Funny colorful atmosphere
Fantastic Boss battle!
Great music!

Cons:

I kind of wish the cats and the hats and "vehicles" were unlocked over time.
Most of the enemy's movement and spawn patterns feels like it's just random.

Overall, the game is pretty much exactly what you'd expect: a Xortex style game but with lazer cats :). Along with Xortex, this is the best bullet hell shooter I've played in VR. I was a bit put off by the team but it isn't that prominent while you're playing (you mostly see lasers, not animals).

+ Good tutorial
+ Saw only one small bug
+ Cheap

- Too easy: First time playing I got to 45 mins on easy before suiciding. Second time playing I unlocked all the upgrades on hard and only came close to dying once. I still haven't died. It took more than an hour.
- Your score is only updated to leaderboards when you die. Maybe this why there are less than 10 people there?
- Only one boss (a dog) that is lame and much easier than the normal waves and immune to damage most of the time.. Great game. Don't be put off by the name if you liked xortex you'll love this.

Easy to pick up and play with lots of replayability.

I'd like to see an update with different themes for the play space and more enemies also a few extra songs in the sound track would be good.

Other than that what's not to like? cats with monocles for the win!. Essentially, it's one of the minigames in The Lab, but more developed and cat/mouse themed. The game is well made and runs fluidly.. Like many others it seems, my first experience of "being inside an arcade wave shooter", was Xortex (free in The Lab), & I loved it, so I went looking for other similar games, & found this little gem, which I like even more, very good, highly recommended.

Also similar are space pirate trainer & stardust vr, though this is my first preference as with those 2 you must protect your whole body from enemy fire, rather than just one controller/ship, I find this a bit more fun.. Get it from a bundle/sale. I pray to Feline God that I did not pay $5 for this. I'm fairly certain I got it on sale at 50% off, and will take that into account. Naturally it's got cats and VR in the title, so it was eventually going to enter my collection at some point. It's basically Xortex (with cute kitties), in space. Achievements are a plus. I felt magnanimous hearing the strong pulse of the laser, as it shot out the eyes of my kit. I like cats and VR, but y'all knew this already. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RNAkVL4z8H8>

Save the kitties, death to the evil rodent invaders!
